

Award Expiration Transition Plan

CDMRP is committed to understanding the impact of the research we fund. This document is designed to capture the significant achievements, products, and outcomes stemming from your completed award. Your detailed responses are crucial for demonstrating the return on investment of our funding, informing future strategic decisions, and showcasing the collective impact of our research portfolio to stakeholders and the public. Please note that this document is solely for reporting purposes and is not an application for new funding.

If an award has multiple distinct products or outcomes, please detail them within the relevant sections of this single report rather than submitting separate documents for each product.

1. What conclusion(s) does your final data support? Include a description of data collected based on sex, sex-based differences observed, and applicability of findings, including any limitations from samples, methods, or analyses used.

2. What will be the next step(s) for this project?

3. Identify applications for follow-on funding for this project, including those pending and successful. Include the following details for each instance of follow-on funding: (a) Funding Organization (b) Total Budget (awarded or requested) (c) Title of the Proposal or Award.

4. Based on your responses above, when would you recommend that CDMRP follow up with you about future developments related to this project (e.g., new funding, publications, or product development), and what is the best contact information we should use at that time?